LEGISLATIVE TICKET NAMED

Salt Lake County Republicans Attack Public Utilities Commission

SALT LAKE, Sept. 19.—Repeal or substantial amendment of the law creating the public utilities commission was favored yesterday in a resolution adopted by the Salt Lake County Republican legislative nominating committee.

The resolution declares that, while the public utilities should be operated at the lowest possible cost consistent with the safety and convenience of the public, it is opposed to the proposed creation of the so-called "one-man" commission in Salt Lake City.

The resolution says: "We submit that the law creating the public utilities commission should be substantially amended or repealed. Originating in the belief that it would safeguard the people in their dealings with public utilities, experience has demonstrated certain vital defects in this law which tend to defeat its very purpose for which it was enacted. We pledge our legislators, therefore, to a searching investigation of this subject, to the end that the rights of the people may be safeguarded either by amendment to or repeal of said law."

We submit that our public utilities should be operated at the lowest possible cost consistent with the safety and convenience of the public, but we unalterably oppose to the proposed operation of the so-called "one-man" street cars in Salt Lake City."

Charles Cottrell, Jr., A. B. Irvine of Salt Lake and M. Shirley Winter of Ogden were nominated for the state senate.

ARIZONA SHEEP TAX TOPIC OF MEETING

SALT LAKE, Sept. 19.—A conference of officials of the Utah Wool Growers' association and Governor's representatives was held yesterday to discuss the situation created by the attempt of Arizona to impose a sheep inspection tax of 50 cents a head on all sheep entering the state for grazing purposes.

Some 200,000 sheep from Washington, Kane, Garfield and Iron counties will be ready to move to the winter ranges which heretofore have been in the "strip." The ranges are, at least for the most part, public lands, to which all citizens of the United States are supposed to have equal privileges. However, a tax of 50 cents a head would be prohibitive, and a somewhat serious situation faces the sheepmen of the southern part of the state.

As a temporary measure, it was decided to station a federal inspection service at the Arizona line, with the object of seeing if expense of the Arizona inspection could not thereby be reduced.

AUTO TRANSFER LAW IS UPHELD

Supreme Court Makes Ruling in Test Case Brought By Motorists

SALT LAKE, Sept. 19.—Two test cases involving the present state automobile law, brought at the instance of the Utah State Automobile association, were decided yesterday by the supreme court.

In each case the court upheld the law as constitutional and decided that a new license is required each time an automobile changes ownership.

Sylvan B. Leon and J. H. Long, technically in the custody of the sheriff for violation of this provision of the law, are remanded into that custody, in accordance with habeas corpus procedure, until they may be released according to law. They are further ordered to pay the costs of printing briefs in the supreme court.

The decision of the supreme court, said E. K. Crockett, secretary of state, yesterday, "while it was hardly unexpected, certainly leaves this office no option but to enforce the law."

A large number of automobile owners in similar positions to those of Mr. Long and Mr. Leon have already complied with the terms of the law as written on the statute books. Some others have been awaiting the decision of the supreme court in this case. They should straighten out the records at once or it will become necessary to start prosecution. We have listed a large number of cars that have been in violation of the law, but whose owners have been waiting for the decision.

Leon had a car on which he regularly obtained a license. On trading it for another automobile of similar horsepower he offered to pay the regular fee for filing affidavit of ownership and certificate of sale, in connection with his new car, but this was not accepted without the full license fee for the new car, $15 additional. He failed to pay this, and was arrested following this up with an appeal to the supreme court on habeas corpus proceedings.

His case was argued strongly by counsel, which represented the stand taken by the automobile association.

Not so much attention was paid to the case of Long, who purchased a car for which a license had already been issued, and refused to pay another license fee for this car.

ASKS PREFERENCE FOR PEACH CROP

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Senator Gooding of Idaho was advised by the interstate commerce commission that there was no material change in the car shortage situation in the west. Both Idaho and Utah are getting but 33 per cent of the refrigerator cars their fruit and potato shippers have asked for and California is getting only 22 per cent of its needs. The general situation is reported as bad.

Senator King had a number of telegrams from the Chicago car directors of the interstate commerce commission saying every possible effort is being made to get refrigerator cars to move the western fruit crops. He also was told by the commission that instructions had gone out to give preferential treatment to the peach crop of Brigham City and North Ogden, and other fruit centers of Utah.

The Pacific Fruit Express also is co-operating to this end.

"Foley's Honey and Tar was established in 1875 and has stood the test of time, serving three generations. It quickly relieves colds, coughs and croup, throat, chest and bronchial troubles."—Advertisement.

SUGGESTIONS FOR RECREATION MADE

SALT LAKE, Sept. 19.—The report of the recreation committee of the state welfare association was received yesterday. Fourteen recommendations are made resulting from a partial survey of the state. The recommendations are summarized as follows:

That power be given explicitly to cities, towns, counties and school districts to provide for supervised recreation.

That some state control of recreation be established through a central board, possibly as a separate department as a part of a permanent welfare commission or as a part of the state department of education.

That physical education be made a compulsory course in the schools.

That a manual on physical training and recreation be prepared for use by the teachers of the state.

That a recreation director, with experience in this form of therapeutics be obtained by the state mental hospital.

That more careful attention be given to recreation at the state prison, this also to include trade education and training.

That the Salt Lake commission and commissions of other cities of the first and second class cities provide a superintendent of recreation on a definite basis to report to the proper elective commissioner.

That a manual be prepared on backyard recreation for distribution in the homes of the state.

That a manual on community recreation be prepared for use by the parent-teachers' organizations.

That the L. D. S. church place its recreational activities on a definite and scientifically organized basis, directed by experts.

That the state library law be revised, and state traveling libraries be arranged.

That greater attention be paid to recreation at the state industrial school and that separate teachers and facilities be provided there for both boys and girls.

That greater financial support be given to the extension division of the University of Utah.

That a state recreation council of fifty to one hundred members be established by the commission.

UNIFORM TAX ON STOCK PROPOSED

SALT LAKE, Sept. 19.—The principles of a uniform law designed to tax migratory livestock will be submitted to the National Tax association this week in a report by a committee headed by William Bailey, chairman of the state board of equalization, and Prof. T. A. Beal, of the University of Utah. The committee was appointed by the association two years ago.

"The stock," says the report, "are driven from one locality to another. Sometimes stock will be grazed in the summer on the higher lands in one state and driven to the lowlands of another state for the winter. The tax-

FEED AND FATTEN STOCK PLANS MADE

SALT LAKE, Sept. 19.—W. W. Armstrong, member of state cattle feed-and-fatten livestock committee yesterday sent a letter to A. A. Hinkley, state commissioner of agriculture, which Mr. Armstrong could not attend in which the livestock prospects were outlined. He said:

"The season of 1922 can show us a long way ahead of what was accomplished in 1921, and the increase by reputation as the years go on will bring a final result that cannot help but be of vast benefit to our state in general."

"After a careful estimate of the lamb crop of Utah for the year 1922, we have concluded that the following is approximately the distribution of that crop of lambs:

"One hundred fifty thousand head of ewe lambs will be retained to replenish the herds; 540,000 head of lambs will be shipped as killers; 160,000 head of lambs will be retained in the state to be finished for the packers and approximately 200,000 head of lambs will leave the state in an unfinished condition which should be retained and fed on the products raised in Utah, which would materially enhance the value of the lambs fed and would give value to the hay and grain and make their own carcasses more valuable, but would return to the fields and farms fertility that will add many thousands of dollars to the value of the land and the increased production of the farm in future years."

"We heartily endorse the program devised for the fattening of livestock by the state board of agriculture, and would be glad to render such services as we may be called upon to perform."
